156th Will Leave For Field Period

Units to Go to Pine Camp Friday and Saturday for Two Weeks

Local units of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion (part of the 27th Infantry Division) National Guard, are scheduled to leave here Friday and Saturday for training at Pine Camp in the Adirondacks from Aug. 5 to 19. Eight men, scheduled to attend the pre-camp cooking school, left Tuesday and an advance detachment of one officer and 15 men left this morning for administrative and preparation of quarters for the 175 local guardsmen.

A motor convoy of about 50 men is scheduled to leave the armory here shortly after 10 p. m. Friday and the rest of the battalion will leave by West Shore train about 7 a. m. Saturday.

Police Notified

Petition Circulated

Police were notified yesterday that three persons were soliciting names in the city on a nominating petition for the Socialist-Labor party.

The three, whose names were listed at police headquarters, were from out of the city, and according to information were soliciting names on the petition to place the party's candidates on the ballot in the gubernatorial election.

One local resident notified police headquarters that she had been asked by someone soliciting in the area to sign a petition calling for peace in Korea, but it was not indicated that this was one of the same trio.

Grandson for Farley

Detroit, Aug. 3 (AP)—A grandson was born here yesterday to former Postmaster General James A. Farley. Farley's daughter, Mrs. Edward J. Hickey III, the former Ann Farley, is the mother. Mrs. Hickey gave birth to a boy weighing seven pounds, three ounces in a Caesarian operation at Jennings Memorial Hospital. Both mother and child were reported doing well.

Catskill Bridge Leads in Traffic Percentage Gain

Total of 184,195 Vehicles Used Span in July; Ferry Total Is Over 1949

The Rip Van Winkle bridge, near Catskill, continues to lead the other two under control of the New York State Bridge Authority in percentage gain of traffic the authority's report showed today.

The bridge, with a total of 184,195 vehicles in July this year, showed a gain of 20,711 over last year and a percentage increase of 12.87. The July, 1949 total was 163,484.

The Mid-Hudson bridge with 322,941 vehicles this year, and 308,575 in July of 1949, showed an increase of 14,366 or a percentage gain of 4.66.

Kingston to Apply At Once for Loan On Housing Plan

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today that Robert Murray from the Technical Construction Bureau, New York State Division of Housing, is scheduled to confer with Arthur A. Davis, Jr., head of the Kingston Housing Authority, tomorrow on preliminary plans for the local housing project.

Davis is also expected to go to New York next week to make arrangements for the initial loan for start of the work, the mayor said.

Bender Believed Operating In Poughkeepsie, Hogan Says

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A fugitive alarm was out today for a Manhattan man accused of bookmaking with an annual gross between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. District Attorney Frank S. Hogan revealed last yesterday that authorities were seeking James H. Bender, 49.

Fast Take Of Business May Be Cut

Taxes Might Reduce Incomes Below Record Size; Quarter Exceeds 1948 Peak

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—American corporations are making money faster than ever before, but new war taxes may cut back the 1950 total to well below record size.

A compilation by the Associated Press of earnings of 450 corporations in virtually every field of business shows profits were 43 per cent higher in the second quarter of 1950 than in the same period last year.

The year 1948 stands as the record-breaker for corporate earnings, and 1949 was only slightly below. Thus the second quarter this year is running well ahead of the 1948 record.

Higher corporate taxes for defense needs plus an excess profits tax would cut back 1950 earnings considerably below the 1948 record. Earnings also would be held down by rationing and price fixing.

The 43 per cent jump in second quarter profits to $1,625,040,257 brought earnings of these 450 corporations for the first six months to $2,865,306,259. That is a gain of 24 per cent over the first six months of 1949.

Three Points To Remember There are three points to keep in mind when looking at the profits picture:

1. The money was earned before the Korean war started.

2. It shows a remarkable recovery from the let-down earlier in the year during a period of strikes and price reductions.

3. The profits look bigger by comparison with the first half of 1949 when a recession was taking hold of the economy.

There are some who believe the second quarter may stand as high tide in the profit movement. Even though many corporations now are working at top speed as a result of the war, their increased sales may not produce higher profits because of greater taxes and higher costs.

Course Is Run The 1949 recession ran its course in about the first six months of the year, and profits started expanding in the third quarter. They have been going up ever since despite frequent strikes, price cuts and termination of post-war building plans.

None of the 26 major groups of the 450 corporations lost money in either the second quarter or first half, and very few of the corporations were in the red.

The 12 motor makers showed a gain of 55 per cent in the second quarter and 45 per cent in the first half as compared with a year ago. They had the highest earnings of any group—$560,291,613—in the first half.

Training Is Ordered Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 3 (AP)—The U. S. Army has ordered 21,000 of its German and displaced persons' guards to receive small arms training and to live in barracks. This was disclosed today by army officials who said that many of the guards already carry small arms. The officials said the new order has no military significance and resulted from the merger of the army's "industrial police" and labor service companies. This took place on August 1 but no official announcement was made by the army.

British Ask Short Term Volunteers

London, Aug. 3 (AP)—The British War Office appealed today for volunteers to serve a special short term of 18 months in the regular army. Previously the shortest period permitted was for five years. "It is intended that volunteers shall serve in the Korean area, although this must to some extent depend on events," the announcement said.

Britain has promised to send Korea ground forces of infantry, artillery, tanks and engineers "as quickly as possible." Strength of the contemplated force has not been disclosed, but is expected to be about 5,000 men.

Americans to Fight Korean Campaign With Older Tanks

However, New Armor May Arrive by Time Army Can Shift From Defensive

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—American troops will have to fight the holding phase of the Korean campaign with World War 2 tanks, some of them improved since 1945.

They may get some really new tanks by the time the embattled Eighth Army can shift from the defensive and start the long way back to the 38th parallel.

This is the substance of what congressional watchdog committees will hear when the army is called up to explain how the Korean crisis caught the United States in the transition period between old and genuinely new armor.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, stated in a speech on Feb. 27 that "except for prototypes we have not purchased a single new tank since the end of the war."

In a report for the last half of 1949, Secretary of the Army Gray said that three light units of the "postwar tank family" were in the final steps of completion prior to an exhaustive series of tests.

Army Has Prototype In his February speech, Collins said that the army had the prototype of a new medium tank and "designs" for a heavy tank.

Collins then emphasized that the army would not build any heavy tanks until it was "sure that we cannot knock out the heaviest of heavies with the improved guns and ammunition of our new light and medium tanks."

Since February, the army is known to have placed an order for a limited production of the new light tank, known as T-41. It is these tanks that could be produced in sufficient numbers to play a part in future phases of the Korean war.

Better Than at Start In the meantime, American troops battling in Korea are getting more and better tanks than they started with one month ago. Pictures have been published showing General Pershing type tanks moving to the Korean battlefront. The Pershings are a considerable improvement over the older and less maneuverable tanks that accompanied the first U. S. units from Japan to Korea.

The Pershing, a 47½ ton vehicle mounting a 90-mm. rifle, forms the backbone of U. S. army armored battalions. Two years ago the army started producing a better Pershing which it christened the General Patton. A few of this latter type are believed to be in Korea or on their way there. The Patton is so built that it can be turned quickly and is generally described as a more useful vehicle on bad ground.

Early in the Korean war, press and unofficial reports said the North Koreans were using 50 and 60 ton Russian-type tanks. The army has never been able to consider the appearance of anything bigger or newer than the Russian T-34. This 30-ton tank has speed and because of its wide tracks served the Red Koreans well in the rainy country through which they have advanced. Recent reports from U. S. ground and air units agree that fewer Red Korean tanks are being seen as the campaign progresses.

Track Change Will Start in Week or Two

Preliminary work on the relocation of the West Shore railroad tracks in the Broadway crossing project area is expected to start "within a week or two," it was announced today.

The tracks will swing in a gradual curve over Railroad avenue from a point near the station through part of the lot where buildings were razed on the south side of Broadway, across part of Greenkill avenue, and will rejoin the regular right-of-way at a point about 400 feet south of the crossing.

Relocation of the tracks is necessary during the building of the steel overpass on the site of the present crossing and the bridge that will connect Greenkill and Railroad avenues over Broadway.

Switch work will start first at the points where the relocated tracks will begin and this work is expected to get under way within the next several days.

Work is still in progress on the relocation of the Greenkill avenue sewer trunk line. The section near Broadway is advancing, and work on the final 800 feet of the line, between the end near Clinton avenue and the Broadway section is expected to start by the end of August. It is possible that the entire line may be completed by the end of September.

Excavation work on Broadway is expected to follow the relocation of tracks.

Bridge Plans Are Proceeding, State Engineer Reports

Plans for the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge are proceeding rapidly, E. W. Wendell, deputy chief engineer of the State Department of Public Works, indicated today.

The information came in a letter replying to a communication from the Kingston Chamber of Commerce in which early completion of the span was urged.

The text of Wendell's letter follows: R. E. Teetsel, president, Kingston Chamber of Commerce, Inc. Kingston, New York

This will acknowledge your letter of July 20th addressed to Superintendent Tully with regard to the advancement of the construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge. Since I have been handling the negotiations for the superintendence of this department, the letter has been referred to me. You are probably also aware of the fact that the superintendence, under the law, acts in an advisory capacity to the New York State Bridge Authority.

Hanley Maps Hard Campaign To Become Next Governor

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—With an assist from Governor Dewey, Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley today mapped a rigorous campaign to become the next Republican governor of New York.

Meanwhile, W. Averell Harriman was reported moving toward the front and Oscar R. Ewing toward a fade-out in a still wide-open race for the Democratic nomination.

The Hanley and Democratic camps readied immediate pre-convention campaign activities. Both voiced confidence in the outcome of the Nov. 7 election.

At the state capitol, it was announced that Dewey would vacate all of August at his Pawling farm, and that Hanley would make many official appearances in his place.

Protest to Come Gas Stations to Close

Hackensack, N. J., Aug. 3 (AP)—Approximately half of the state's estimated 6,000 gas stations will be shut down Tuesday and possibly for the balance of the week, a gasoline retailers' spokesman said today.

John J. Dressler, president of the New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Association, said the 3,000 members of his association would close down Tuesday to attend a mass meeting in Trenton.

He predicted that they then would approve a resolution calling for a Wednesday through Saturday closing as a protest in the gasoline price war which had spread through Bergen, Hudson, Union and Essex counties in the past two weeks.

Reds Face Marshes Plus U.N. Forces On Way to Pusan

Slowdown of Advancing Communists Can Be Accomplished, Say Experts

By RUSSELL BRINES Tokyo, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Communist power drive along Korea's south coast will have to wallow through marshes and rain-splashed lowlands if it is to reach from the Chinha front to Pusan, its main target 40 miles away.

A map shows that. The map does not show, however, how much reinforced strength American and South Korean forces intend to throw at this Red drive.

Two Red divisions, and maybe added elements of a third, are in the southern thrust, which is labeled by General MacArthur now as of "major importance." Much of the tank-led Red force is aimed along the coastline toward Masan. Masan is less than 30 miles west of Pusan, key American port.

Reds and their armor already have spilled through mountains to vorge on a coastal plain leading toward Pusan. Flat lands are generally advantageous to the attacking Reds. There are, however, boggy low spots which American experts say can slow down Communist tanks.

The going is fairly favorable to tanks along the two highways leading from Chungmum to Masan, a main highway junction. Chungmum is about eight miles east of Chinha. The Reds have been pushing along both highways. An American counter-attack Wednesday gained high ground in this region in an effort to slow down the Communist push.

Another stretch of high ground fronts Masan. It's in the vicinity of Haman, about nine miles west of Masan. The defenders may try to hold this stretch dominating the two highway approaches to the port town.

'Highway Bottleneck' Experts call Masan a highway bottleneck. It lies on the west side of a wide bay of the same name. Main highways converge in the town's northern end as one (Continued on Page 24, Col. 4)

Assigned to Positions Tokyo, Aug. 3 (AP)—U. S. Marines and the army's reinforcing Second Infantry Division troops rolled into the combat area with Pershing tanks tonight to join the showdown battle for south-east Korea.

They were assigned to positions supporting deployed American troops, who had withdrawn on some fronts up to 18 miles in three days for their big stand on shortened lines.

The lines were in the general area of the winding Nakdong river in spots chosen deliberately by American commanders for their climactic holding action.

A big buildup of enemy forces on the holding front near Chinha was observed by a 24th Infantry tank reconnaissance force. This force fought its way almost to Chinha before returning to American lines in the hills 40 miles west of the main U. S. port of Pusan.

Former Aid Talks About Aggression

Former Head of Military Mission Also to Be Heard; Pauley Gives 'His Views'

Enemy Builds Up

Korean Reds Move More Soldiers to Front at Chinha

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, former special ambassador for the President, told Senators today that the "Soviet Union has been a deliberate aggressor in Korea as far back as May 28, 1946."

Pauley testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee at a special hearing on Korea.

Waiting to take the witness chair was Brig. Gen. W. L. Roberts, former head of the U. S. military mission in Korea.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.), in announcing the hearing yesterday, had refused to say who the witnesses would be but declared "important" testimony on Korea would be received.

Senators Bridges (R-N.H.) and Knowland (R-Calif.), who had been kept in the dark as to the witnesses' names until just before the hearing, told reporters that Pauley was Tydings' "mystery witness."

Pauley, a California oil man, headed a U. S. reparations mission after the close of World War II. In that capacity, he visited Korea to learn what assets the Japanese had there. His visit was in May, 1946.

When Pauley took the stand, Tydings said that he had been asked by the White House and the Pentagon to arrange for Pauley's testimony.

However, in answer to a question by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), Pauley said that his statement reflected only his own views and had not been submitted to any department in advance.

Tydings' advance air of mystery about the hearing led to all manner of speculation as to what was in prospect. There were even rumors that Gen. Douglas MacArthur was flying here.

There was a big turnout of reporters, news photographers, newsmen and television men but not many spectators. The Senate caucus room, which seats about 300, was only about half filled.

Pauley had a lengthy prepared statement. "Two days ago Jacob Malik, the Soviet representative who is current president of the Security Council of the United Nations, charged this country with aggression in Korea," Pauley began.

"The harsh truth is that the Soviet Union has been a deliberate aggressor."

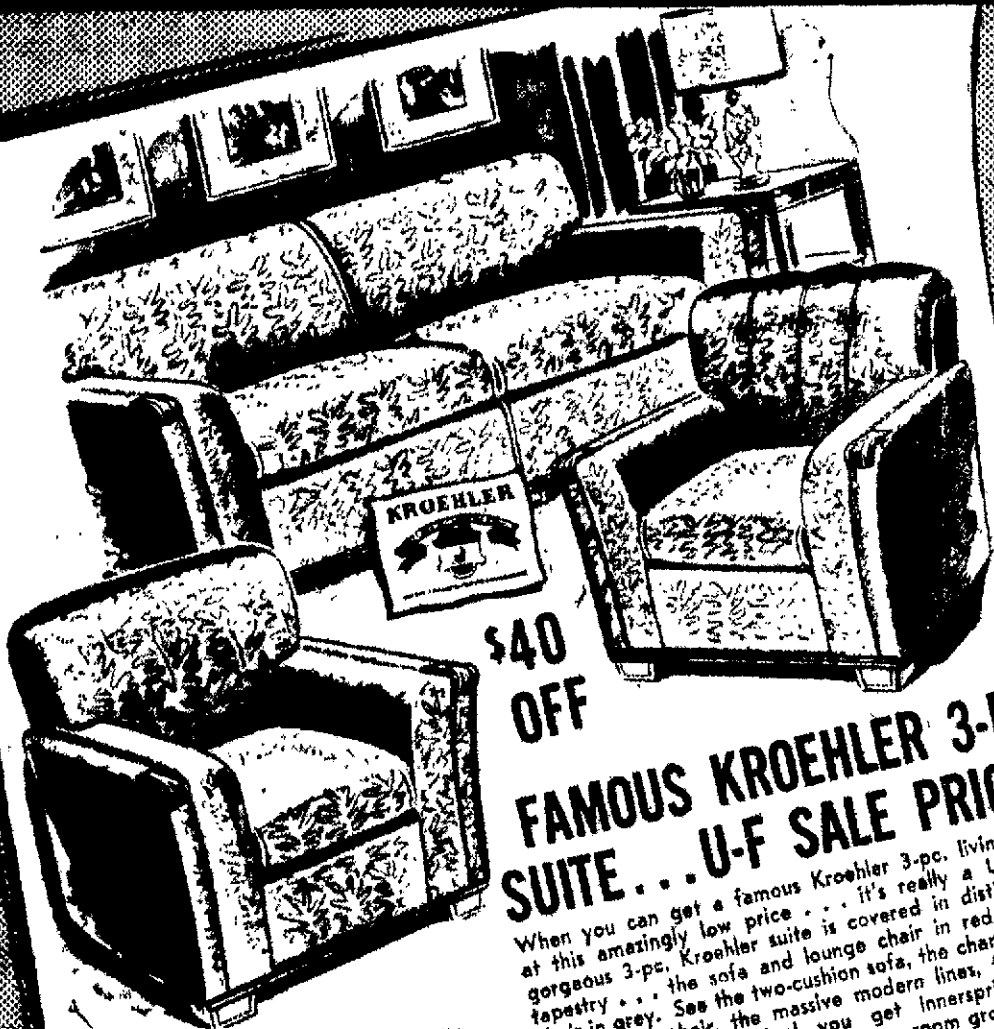

He added that he would "document this with facts as I go along."

Says He Stole $1,000
From Police Boys Club

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—A credit firm executive walked into police headquarters yesterday and told startled authorities that he had stolen $1,000 from a police club for boys.

Police, who didn't know there was a shortage in the club's $20,000 treasury, locked up James J. Aylward, 43, of Greenville, N. Y., on a grand larceny charge.

Aylward gets $7,000 a year as executive secretary of the Wool Yarn Jobbers Credit Association in New York city.

He has been treasurer since last November of the Nassau County Police Boys Club, Inc., which sponsors entertainment and sports for youngsters.

Police have been trying to reach Aylward by telephone for a week—but only to get him to endorse a couple of club checks.

Aylward was quoted as saying he had been on a drinking spree when he came home and learned of the phone calls, he said, he figured police had found the shortage.

Also, the annual audit of his books was due this week. Aylward is married and has two sons, seven and ten years old.

CORNELIUS V. SEWELL
Quantico, Va.—Cornelius V. Sewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Sewell, Woodstock, N. Y., is one of the 1500 men who were selected from colleges and universities throughout the United States to become members of the Platoon Leaders Class at Marine Corps Schools here.

Designed to train college students during their vacations, the Platoon Leaders Class gives two training periods of six weeks each. Their reserve commissions are awarded to them upon graduation from college.

Sewell and his classmates are given intensive instruction in drill, tactics and weapons. A student at Hobart College, his time will be divided between classroom lectures, problems, field demonstrations and maneuvers. Several days are spent on the rifle range where weapons such as the rifle, carbine and pistol are fired. For the final three weeks the students move from their modern barracks to the camps of the Quantico reservation for training under field conditions.

Binghamton Press
Answers Charges
Of Congressman

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Binghamton's two daily newspapers today replied sharply to Rep. Edwin Arthur Hall's claim that they have hit "below the belt" in opposing his bid for renomination.

The Binghamton Press said Hall had received "more than a fair break" in its news column.

And the Binghamton Sun asserted that the "space accorded Mr. Hall in the Binghamton newspapers has been as free as his franking privilege."

At the same time, both criticized Hall's record in Congress.

Hall, a Republican, attacked the two papers yesterday when he introduced a resolution that would put the House on record as calling upon newspapers and radio stations to give all candidates for public office equal space and attention.

Offered in "Retaliation"

Hall told a reporter in Washington that he had offered the resolution in "retaliation" for the manner in which he said the Press and the Sun "have and are opposing my bid for reelection."

He charged that the papers "have hit me below the belt at every opportunity."

In reply, Managing Editor Fred W. Stein of the Press said his paper "believes Representative Hall is a bad congressman."

"His voting and attendance record prove it," Stein asserted. But, he added:

"More Than Fair Break"

"At the same time, the Binghamton Press says the record shows it has given Mr. Hall more than a fair break in its news columns—so much so, many have accused the Binghamton Press of keeping him in office."

Walter J. Lyon, managing editor of the Sun, said that "if Mr. Hall will introduce one sound measure or justify his six terms in Congress by one constructive act, he will have no difficulty in getting a favorable press."

Both newspapers said they would print Hall's accusations and their replies. The Press is a member of the Gannett group. The Sun is published by William H. Hill, Broome county Republican chairman.

Hall represents the 37th Congressional District, comprising Broome, Chenango and Madison counties. Three candidates are opposing him in the Republican primary August 22. They are Lester R. Mosher, James H. Westfall and the Rev. T. Milton Bond.

Moose Movie Friday

The Moose movie at Forsyth Park Friday night, weather permitting, will be "Tails of Old Wyoming," starring Hopalong Cassidy.

TV HELPS MAKE THE "H" BOMB—Scientists at the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratories near Chicago make use of three-dimensional television in handling, by remote control, dangerous radio-active materials. Here an AEC employee watches, via the TV screen, as an object almost a fifth of a mile away is handled by electronically operated arms. The Commission's eighth semi-annual report just received in Congress states that the U. S. is "now under way" in the production of a hydrogen bomb and that progress has been made toward the development of atomic engines for use in both planes and submarines.

Shots Go Wild

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—An unidentified man seized a policeman's revolver and emptied it at another policeman in Harlem last night—but all the shots went wild. Radio Car Patrolmen Harold Garber and six shots at Engel. The man then disappeared into a crowd, taking to flight a fight between a Negro

"Maybe your friend Generous George has been playing lately in Louisville," writes a bridge fan of that city. "We had a hand here the other night that was made by his artist's tactics."

As you will notice, everybody was bidding his head off until North suddenly silenced everybody by jumping to five clubs. Maybe West should have bid some more (although his hand didn't look that good), because he'd have been down only one at five hearts. The actual result was more unpleasant.

Against the contract of five clubs, West opened the king of hearts. The man who was playing the South hand had read some of your stories about Generous George. He leered at both opponents, told them how much he had always liked them, and then let West hold the first trick.

"West could shift to a trump, hoping to stall declarer's plans in this way. No defense would succeed, however. The remarkable play at the first trick assured the contract."

"South won the trump shift with the ten, led to the ace of diamonds, and discarded his losing diamond on dummy's ace of hearts. This, of course, was the purpose of the unusual play at the first trick."

"South was now able to ruff a diamond, thus keeping East out of the lead. He entered dummy by leading a small trump to the nine, and ruffed another diamond with a high trump. This established the rest of dummy's diamonds."

"South could now lead a trump to dummy's queen, thus entering the dummy and at the same time drawing the last trump held by West. O' dummy's three good diamonds, South discarded three of his spades. He was perfectly willing to give up one spade at the end."

Chalk up one for the unnamed Louisville slugger. I have shown this hand to my friend Generous George, and he told me to remind him not to play bridge in Louisville. They're too tough there. I might point out that South would have lost his contract if he took the first trick with the ace of hearts. Last would eventually get in with a diamond, and a spade lead through South would cause South to lose two tricks in that suit. Two spades and one diamond would set the contract.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 3, 1950

300TH ANNIVERSARY PLANNED

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce plans observance of the 300th anniversary of the first settlement here by white men. The celebration will take place within the next few years, according to present plans.

Scattered through this historic city are thirty-six pre-Revolutionary stone houses. Heading this list is the Old Senate House, oldest public building in the original thirteen colonies, and now maintained by the State of New York as a historic site. Its name derives from the fact that the first state senate held its initial meeting here.

Throughout Ulster county the Dutch and later the English settlers inhabited this section of the state and built their homes in the verdant valley lands along the Hudson and Wallkill Rivers, Rondout, Esopus and Sawkill Creeks. The 170 buildings which remain are said to constitute the largest collection of colonial stone houses in America. They are originals and not replicas or restorations.

While there is such a thing as too much worship of the past, we Americans think of it too little. Enterprises like the observance of the 300th anniversary here and paralleled elsewhere deserve encouragement.

Williamsburg, Virginia, has been restored to show visitors what a bygone village looked like. Cooperstown, New York, has for years been reconstructing an old-time village, with general store, apothecary shop, old school building and farmers' museum, showing early farming tools. Plymouth, Massachusetts, is busy planning a reproduction of the early settlement of the Pilgrims.

DEFENSE OF EUROPE

The Atlantic Pact nations, aiming to hasten the job of preparing the military defenses of Europe, face hard decisions. And the position of the United States is the most difficult of all, as the promoter, the supplier and to a large extent the financier. It might seem a simple matter to arm to the teeth and then wait for the aggressors of the world to start something. Unhappily it is not that easy.

There are three basic needs, for materials, money and men. The Second World War destroyed fabulous amounts of the materials with which defenses are built, and even wealthy America can spare little from its other requirements. The same is true of money; most European governments are in woefully poor financial condition, and the United States government has been able to make ends meet in only two years of the last twenty. As to man power, no one on either continent is very anxious to turn from civilian to military pursuits, either in production or armed service.

The decision to be made is not to what extent it is desirable to arm Europe but how much wealth and energy can be diverted to the project. The United States individually faces an even harder decision: How much of the cost can safely be borne by America and how much must be demanded of the European Nations? The original conception of the Atlantic Pact arming program laid most of the burden, in materials, money and production, on the United States. But if the program is to be greatly accelerated the American economy cannot stand the full burden. Now, more than ever, Europe must help to prepare its own defenses.

In Denmark it's a social custom for farmers to paint their barns annually. Here it's an advertising custom.

Some of the more excitable people are inclined to complain because the courts will not allow them to apply the name "Communist" to anyone without being able to prove its accuracy. Some think that they should have that privilege, just as the old-time political campaigners called their opponents horse thieves without much being thought of it. Courts are more careful now to the reputation of innocent citizens being blackened by indiscriminate libel. Now it is admittedly libelous to call a man a horse thief unless it be proved that he is one, and the same ruling holds when

GOVERNMENT ACCOUNTING

It is hard to believe, but the accounting system employed by the government of the United States is antiquated and confused and fails to provide the data. Herbert Hoover once said that the accounting system used by the post office was installed by Alexander Hamilton and has not been changed since. The post office, once our pride, has in recent years become the most inefficient organ of government.

The Hoover Commission spent much time and effort analyzing the accounts of the government and they proposed a modernized, efficient system that would save billions of dollars. These savings are important today when Congress plans to increase our taxes. Every dollar saved by government is vital to each earner. For instance, the Hoover Commission proposed a unified catalogue of military supplies and equipment; about which I shall write in fuller detail. Suffice it now to say that nothing has been done about it, although such unification can save billions of dollars.

Congress has come up with bills (Senate 3,850; House 9,038) entitled "Budget and Accounting Procedures of 1950." These bills are being advertised as part of the Hoover Commission's program. They are nothing of the kind. They are government measures which are contrary to a specific recommendation of the Hoover Commission, in the sense that primary accounting and auditing powers are vested in the comptroller-general, an agent of Congress.

The Hoover Commission felt that these functions should be divided; accounting should be the function of the comptroller-general in the Treasury, while auditing should be the function of the comptroller-general. It is not good practice for a man to audit his own accounts. Also, the executive should be responsible for its accounts and procedures. As the system is operated today, no single official in the executive branch of government is responsible for the accounting. No private business could operate in such confusion.

The keeping of accounts is being wasted. Our government is too costly and we cannot afford the luxury of such an expensive government while we fight a war. There just is not that much money.

The secretary of the Treasury and his proper subordinates ought to be responsible for the accounts, which an officer of the Congress should audit. That means authority, responsibility, and control, which is proper procedure. This the bills before Congress do not accomplish.

The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report says:

"Progress can be made toward elimination of duplicative and cumbersome procedures and inconsistent and improper application of accounting principles and practices. As recommended by the Hoover Commission, it should be possible to save money by eliminating the legal requirement that millions of expenditure vouchers and supporting papers be sent to Washington and to eliminate or modify such antiquated fiscal procedures as are required under the obsolete warrant system."

We are moving into a tough situation for all of us which we must take seriously. It is a situation that will cost a lot of money. Nobody can evade the cost of the Korean war and all the troubles that will come from it. We shall be spending billions of dollars—the $10,000,000,000 asked for is only a beginning—and these billions must come out of taxes; that is, out of the earnings of the American people. Therefore, every dollar spent by the government is only for war but for any purpose, has to be scrutinized carefully and constantly. Our legitimate business men do not need or want graft, twisted accounts, false descriptions, excessive purchases to make earnings. They cannot possibly make as much goods as they can sell. They do not need to load up the government with excessive inventories of supplies.

Yet, the fact is that government is widely extravagant and always has been. Money—money—goes down the drain. Maybe it is due to a combination of factors and contractors; maybe it is the habit of extravagance.

The other day, out on the road, I counted eight men engaged in drawing a white line on a road. They had all sorts of equipment. We stopped our car to watch. By no calculation could we discover why more than three men were needed. Maybe it is just a habit with us to waste.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SOLDIER'S HEART, ANXIETY NEUROSIS

During and after World War I a number of returned men were found to be suffering with a group of symptoms that was given various names: soldier's heart, battle fatigue, anxiety neurosis, effort syndrome, and finally, neurocirculatory asthenia. This same group of symptoms occurred in the civilian population and it is estimated that about 5 per cent (1 in every 20) of the population is suffering with neurocirculatory asthenia, which means weakness or tiredness of nerves, blood vessels, and the muscles themselves.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, a group of Boston physicians—Edwin C. Wheeler, Paul D. White, Maudel E. Cohen, and Eleanor W. Reed—state that this disease or ailment is a common disorder which they have observed and followed for many years. They report their findings in the records of 173 patients followed up after 20 years.

The definition given by the group is that neurocirculatory asthenia is "a state of ill health characterized by a large number of symptoms including breathlessness, palpitation, chest pain, nervousness, fatigue, headache, dizziness, sighing, attacks or spells, apprehension, trembling and discomfort in crowded places, in the absence of other disease which might reasonably account for these symptoms."

The records of these 173 patients were chosen because, while they had the above symptoms, these symptoms were not complicated by other disease or diseases such as high blood pressure or heart disease.

What did these research physicians find in their follow-up 20 years later of these 173 patients suffering with neurocirculatory asthenia?

1. They found that this is usually a chronic disorder which does not greatly interfere with the patient's work or family life, nor does it cause death.

2. They found no evidence to suggest that these patients are more likely to develop high blood pressure, heart disease, peptic ulcer, diabetes, asthma, and mental disturbance than others.

3. Neurocirculatory asthenia does not lead to a high death rate.

4. The various methods of treatment that had been used, including shock treatment, gave no better results than the usual reassurance of their physician.

As we go over all the symptoms that were present at the examination 20 years previously and find nothing more serious than what had happened to the rest of the population, this should be reassuring to sufferers with neurocirculatory asthenia.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It is important that the American public know the rules of news censorship laid down by General MacArthur for covering the Korean war.

Theoretically, there is no censorship, since newsmen are not required to show their dispatches to army officers. However, General MacArthur has issued a definite directive to newsmen which is highly important and which, as reported by the Columbia Broadcasting System, states that "criticism of command decisions or the conduct of allied soldiers on the battlefield will not be tolerated."

Also significant is the fact that this new directive was issued one day after Homer Bigart of the New York Herald Tribune cabled a dispatch analyzing the conduct of U. S. troops, reporting that they were untrained and that top officers had to remain with them when under fire to keep them from breaking. Bigart reported that this was the reason why there were such heavy casualties among officers.

The fact is that MacArthur had the largest segment of the U. S. Army under him in Japan, and failure to train troops is, of course, a direct reflection on him and his chief commander, Lieut. Gen. Walton Walker.

Army Once Welcomed Criticism
The new MacArthur directive barring criticism is in direct contradiction to the censorship rules laid down for newspapers in this country during World War 2. At that time both the army and navy agreed that criticism was healthy, important, in fact, necessary. It is also in violation of Woodrow Wilson's famous statement in World War 1: "We do not need less criticism, but more. It is hoped that criticism will be constructive, but better unfair criticism than automatic repression."

Perhaps if there had been more newspaper scrutiny and criticism of the entire defense setup, including tanks and our easy training schedule for American troops in Japan, things might now be better in Korea.

Criticism of the U. S. Military in Japan, however, has always been difficult. MacArthur just did not tolerate it. While he had no censorship rules as such, he made life difficult for the newsmen who tried to report the full story of the Japanese occupation.

For instance, here is a secret cable sent by MacArthur to Washington in 1946 in which he proposed barring certain newspapers. While few would disagree with MacArthur about barring the Daily Worker, it is hard to understand his reasons for barring such staid newspapers as the New York Herald Tribune, the San Francisco Chronicle and the Christian Science Monitor. Nevertheless his cable read:

"Cincinnati, Tokyo—While continuing by doubts as to the advisability of the contemplated trip, in view of the insistence of the Department, I will withdraw my objection. I would like to have an opportunity to pass upon those contemplated for selection before their invitation is accomplished. I believe the list should not include actual writers but should be limited to publishers and editors and should not include those connected with papers of known hostility to the occupation. Such papers are the Christian Science Monitor, Herald Tribune, Chicago Sun, San Francisco Chronicle, PM, Daily Worker and others of this stamp whose articles and editorials have not only been slanted but have approached downright quackery and dishonesty." /Signed/ MacArthur.

This policy of ousting independent newsmen continued right up to the Korean crisis. As late as June 12, London Times correspondent, Frank Hawley was ordered out of Japan merely because he reported what was a well-established fact—namely that a MacArthur-inspired ban on Japanese demonstrations was unconstitutional.

Oklahoma's Aftermaths

The people of Oklahoma have now shown what they think of speculating senators by defeating Sen. "Cotton Elmer" Thomas in the Democratic primaries. They also came within a hair's breadth of kicking out Congressman Victor Wickersham for his salary flingings, and doubtless will finish the job in the November elections.

Meanwhile Senator Thomas and his brother, Dyke Cullum, are convinced that their telephones are tapped. After the last merry-go-round story was publisher telling of Cullum's soya bean oil purchases and his friendship for the senator's secretary, Joyceette Jones, there were immediate frantic phone calls.

Senator Thomas phoned Dyke Cullum; Joyceette Jones also phoned Cullum; and Mrs. Cullum hit the ceiling. On top of learning that her husband had been going around with Miss Jones, a beautiful Indian princess, she also did not like the fact that Dyke had received a post card from a lady in New York which read: "Will see you at the Waldorf on the 15th. (Signed) E.E."

Mr. Cullum had a hard time explaining this one. At first he had no explanation. But after considerable brooding he finally remarked to Mrs. Cullum:

"I know that dirty . . . Drew Pearson sent me that post card just to cause trouble in my home."

Whereupon Mrs. Cullum, a wise and patient lady, remarked: "Dyke, dear, I don't you know. Drew Pearson is after it's the senator. He's not interested in you. He just believes that people who are elected to high public office should not be using that office for their own personal gain."

Dyke thought a minute about this, then told Mrs. Cullum: "All right, if Senator Thomas is defeated, I won't have another thing to do with him."

Since then Thomas has been defeated. Meanwhile, Mr. Cullum has promised to buy Mrs. Cullum a new fall outfit, so perhaps all well that ends well.

Effort Underway to Make Johnson Responsible for Unpreparedness, but Avoids Realities

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 3—There is a palpable effort to make Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson the scapegoat for America's unpreparedness today.

That's the easy, superficial, careless way. It tends to obscure realities. For the truth is the Congress of the United States is primarily responsible for the debacle in Korea.

The Constitution imposes on Congress these duties:

"To raise and support armies."

"To provide and maintain a navy."

"To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces."

If America is unprepared to day, the blame cannot be placed merely on just one branch of the government—either the President or the Secretary of Defense. They have a responsibility, of course, but if either or both of these officials was wrong in taking the advice of those who drew up a military concept of strategy based only on a strategic bombing war in Europe, then it was the duty of the legislative branch of the government to check those policies and make final judgment.

What did Congress do during the controversy last year concerning reductions in the navy, or the withholding of funds for the air force or the need of the army for tanks and tactical aviation? The House Armed Services Committee, led by Representative Carl Vinson of Georgia, Democrat, did a faithful job of checking on what the executive agencies were doing. The House committee did more—it conducted public hearings and listened to witnesses who cried out against a concept of strategy which took into account only one kind of warfare.

What did the Senate do? Here was the biggest fall down. Here is where the real checking should have been done, because the Senate is recognized as the more powerful and influential body of the two. The Senate, however, depended on its armed services committee. This is headed by Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland, Democrat, who studiously avoided any serious check-up or investigation. With his colleague, Republican Senator Charles McNary, he repeatedly scored away from the controversy over unpreparedness which raged in the House committee last autumn.

He intervened only to coerce the House Armed Services Committee and military men generally by threatening, in effect, to hold up the legislation providing for military pay increase unless the navy and army officers knuckled under and accepted the Tydings

"unification" plan. Thus far this plan has served only to weaken the defense structure.

All during the time that the House Armed Services Committee that the United States lacked tactical aviation units for the army, lacked tanks and lacked naval aviation, the Senate Armed Services Committee was looking the other way—trying to avoid what it called a controversial subject. At one time Chairman Tydings said he didn't think the Senate should inquire into the controversy raised over the matter of naval aviation and marine corps strength and B-36's because this was being done by the House—as if the Senate could thus abdicate its responsibility to investigate vital matters of national defense policy.

Before the "unification" propaganda sold the country the idea that the past war could be won in a few days by air power alone, the Congress had a separate committee for the army and a separate committee for the navy in each House. Now each has only one armed services committee. Hence it was more important than ever that during 1949 and 1950 the Senate Armed Services Committee should not have abdicated its duty.

This same committee has just appointed several subcommittees to watch the defense effort. Nothing apparently is being done to investigate the past failures of the committee itself. Nothing is being done by the Congress to find out why its system of checking on defense matters broke down. Nor is anything being done to establish a method of censuring those committee members who neglected their duty to the people of the United States in 1949 when the die was cast to forget tanks and tactical aviation and to cut naval aviation.

The system in Congress needs to be changed. There should be a joint committee of both Houses and equal representation of both political parties, so that such things as Senator Tydings' clever whitewash of Secretary of Navy Matthews when he punished Admiral Denfeld for telling the American people the truth about their defenses will not be ignored by the Senate itself.

The present system is such that the unwise Senator Tydings brings to the attention of the Senate itself problems related to military affairs, they do not get much consideration by that body. There is no partnership of interest under the present system and a committee chairman can squelch any inquiry he wishes to squelch. That's why it's unfair to single out Secretary Johnson as the only one to blame in the present mess.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 3—The old concept of Vermont as a conservative Yankee Republican state is long out of date. Vermont is now a paradox, a left-wing state under nominal Republican administration. A few citizens of Vermont who maintain the traditions of their state and the old principles of the Republican Party have tried for some time to call attention to the great change.

A farmer living not far from the newly-disclosed Communist center at Bethel and Randolph presents some views of an old-style Vermont Republican.

"This so-called rock-solid Republican state is represented by a left-winger in the Senate named Aiken," he writes. "Aiken stands without opposition in the Republican primaries in September."

The Vermont farmer who wrote this letter was not implying communism in his use of the term left-wing. He just meant something far to the left of the professed Republican character of the party. Indeed, although he realized that something was wrong, he did not know that a Communist colony had been corrupting the politics of the native Vermonters in a place less than an hour's drive from his farm. He was surprised when he was told that John Aht, Nathan Witt, Lee Pressman, Alger Hiss and Marian Bechtrach were, in a liberal sense of the word, his neighbors. Even if he had known they were his neighbors, this Vermont

Republican farmer, like practically all other Americans, would not readily have remembered that the United States in the last century had eventually convicted Hiss of perjury with implications of treason, said: "The head of the underground group was Nathan Witt. Later, John Aht became the leader, Lee Pressman also was a member of this group, as was Alger Hiss."

Or that Louis Budenz, the renowned communist, testified that he personally knew Pressman, Aht and Witt to be members of the Communist party, or that Budenz said on oath: "Aht's sister, Marian Bechtrach, was present in a number of (party) conferences as Aht's representative."

The Bechtrach woman is cited four times previously in the records of the Committee on Un-American Activities and her name appears over and over in a monthly Communist magazine.

The genuine Republican senator from Wisconsin, Joe McCarthy, who is scorned as a worse influence than the Communist fifth column in one of these Vermont "Republican" editorials, disclosed a few days ago that Louis Budenz, whose notoriety hardly needs a review just now, had bought a farm just north of Bethel, Vt., with a character known as Vladimir Stefanov. This is the Scandinavian equivalent of William Stevenson, as Stefanov was known to some of his school. (Continued on Page 11, Col. 1)

Q—In what way are humps important to the camel?

A—They are used to store fat. After a camel is fed well for a long period, its hump or humps will be of full size. After a long journey across the desert, with little food, day by day, the hump becomes smaller, and at the end it may be hardly there at all. If the animal eats well after such a trip, the hump will come back to full size in a few weeks.

Q—How old is the country of Korea?

A—Korea was an ancient kingdom with a history extending back to the 12th century B. C., long known as the "Hermit Kingdom."

Q—Why did the Methodists adopt this name?

A—The name Methodist was first applied to a religious club founded at Oxford University by John and Charles Wesley. The name was later adopted by John Wesley himself.

Q—What is the weight of the Liberty Bell?

A—Its weight has been recorded at 2,089 pounds.

Mrs. Rockefeller Refuses Comment

Lowell, Ind., Aug. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Winthrop (Bobo) Rockefeller, vacationing with her baby son at the farm home of her mother and stepfather, refused yesterday to discuss the status of her marriage.

It has been reported for several months that the blonde former Barbara Paul Sears, one-time model and "Cinderella Girl," and her husband, grandson of the late John D. Rockefeller, had separated.

"Rumors are rumors, you can't stop them," Mrs. Rockefeller told a group of visiting Chicago reporters. "Let people talk. I have nothing more to say about it."

She said Rockefeller was to leave New York soon for a trip to South America "on purely business matters." She married Rockefeller after she divorced Richard Sears Jr., of Boston in 1947.

Bobo, the daughter of Lithuanian immigrants, greeted the reporters in the old, but comfortable, six-room house of her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Neveckas. She refused to allow photographers to take pictures of her 22 months old son, Winthrop II.

"I want him to be able to go out in the world unrecognized from pictures as the son of wealth," she said.

Her son, she said, is "having the time of his life on the farm," which is isolated from Lowell, a community of 1,500 population in Lake county about 60 miles southeast of Chicago.

Labor Federation Ousts Alleged Reds

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The New York State Federation of Labor convention yesterday unseated an Albany delegate and six New Yorkers for alleged left-wing activities.

The federation's 87 annual convention also unanimously endorsed Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.) for reelection. Lehman also has the backing of the state C.I.O.

The barring of the seven delegates came after the federation's credentials committee had questioned more than 20 delegates for four and half hours on Tuesday.

The committee's report was read yesterday by Morris Rosen, its secretary. He named the barred Albany delegate as Kostas Dakeholous, a member of Local 471, Culinary Trades Union.

Dakeholous was "unseated," Rosen said, because of his activities "in the American Labor Party and kindred organizations."

The New York city delegates refused admission were identified as Gertrude Lane, Daisy George, Thomas Wilson, David Herman, Ann Francowicz, and Lee Candia. They are members of Local 8, Hotel and Club Employees Union.

David Herman, a spokesman for the ousted group, said they had "no immediate comment."

In endorsing Lehman, A.F.L. State President Thomas A. Murray told the delegates that "great emphasis should be placed upon this recommendation of a man who has pledged himself to repeal the Taft-Hartley Law."

Bender Believed

sessions Judge George L. Donnellan.

One better placed wagers of $13,500 in a single day with Bender, who often accepted bets of $5,000 to $6,000 daily from one person, according to Hogan.

Bender was described as operating by telephone, bettors receiving cards with telephone numbers.

Until May 1950, the telephone cards bore Passaic, N. J., numbers, Hogan said.

Hogan said that when the grand jury investigations got under way, Bender apparently headed for Poughkeepsie, as new cards were issued giving Poughkeepsie 4183, 8013 and 8322 as the numbers.

"It's difficult to arrive at a picture of the full extent of his (Bender's) business," Hogan said.

According to Hogan, an $11,185 judgment was obtained here March 11 against Bender by Mrs. Harold Kartiganer, of 13 Fairway Drive, White Plains, N. Y., who said her husband lost the amount in horse bets ranging from $200 to $2,000. Bender entered a general denial that he was a bookmaker, but the judgment was awarded, Hogan said.

The district attorney said the bettors whose testimony resulted in the information were mainly New York residents.

Hogan said Bender paid a gambling fine of $25 in 1938.

Bender employed Schwartz, whose nickname was given as "Jack," Hogan added.

Long Strike Looms

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Labor and management apparently were ready for a long strike today as the nation's largest flour milling industry remained paralyzed for the third straight day.

"The strike may last a month or longer because the employers are determined not to grant anything," Owen J. Kavanagh, president of Local 1286 of the A.F.L. Grain Elevator employees union, said. Elwood Chase, chairman of the Buffalo Elevator Managers' Committee, said inventories of stocks were being taken and added, "there is nothing new to report." The two groups are making no effort to reopen negotiations halted by the strike Monday, according to U. S. Conciliator O. W. Rider.

Fear for Relatives

Somewhere in Korea, Aug. 3 (AP)—The South Korean government will send a complete list of 404 Communist prisoners to the International Red Cross despite pleas of the prisoners that their capture not be reported. Col. Paik Won Kyo, commandant of the prisoners-of-war camp, said the prisoners were afraid their families will be persecuted by the Communists in North Korea if the list is published. Paik reported all the men said they had been told to "fight or die" and not surrender under any circumstances.

Quake Shakes Mexico City

Mexico City, Aug. 3 (AP)—A strong earthquake shook Mexico City at 12:16 a. m., C.S.T. today but there were no immediate reports of damage or personal injury.

Grange News

Katrine Meeting

The regular scheduled meeting of Lake Katrine Grange will be held in the hall, Monday, August 7, at 8 p. m., with Worthy Master Myron Bolce, Jr., presiding. This will be the only regular meeting held during the month of August. It is very important that the members of the committee on the booth for the Ulster county fair be present at this meeting as arrangements will be made at this time. Arrangements for the annual picnic will be discussed at this meeting as well as plans for this annual cleaning of the Grange hall and grounds. All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

40 Marchers the Police in sh Hour Crowd

York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Two hundred left-wing "peace" marchers, banned from staging a Square rally, battled 1,000 late yesterday in first-line demonstrations waited until home-going rush hour to their defiant move.

Want peace—open up the "the marchers chanted as they suddenly formed ranks and the throngs going home work.

mounted policemen rode horses onto sidewalks. Flat broke out. Several injuries reported and at least one was smashed.

A sign-waving demonstrators removed from electric light by police and a fire department and ladder company. Police detail spent an hour up the demonstration of the marchers arrested charged with assault or riotous conduct.

Retreat to 11th Street. Battered by police at Union Square, some of the marchers fled three blocks south to street. Another group of 500 moved north to 23rd at Madison Park. Police then out.

At night, 1,200 police ringed Square after a report that marchers would invade the "roads of the world." How-police reported no organized demonstrations there.

Batory to Be Searched Under New Atomic Code

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The liner Batory, escape ship of Communist Gerhart Eisler when he jumped bail here and fled to Europe, may be the first vessel to be examined here under new atomic security regulations.

The Batory is due to arrive Saturday, and it is expected that she will be boarded in lower New York bay by federal agents for the "Titan Ship" search announced recently for all ships from Iron Curtain ports.

Harry M. Durning, collector of the port, declined to comment on plans to receive the Polish liner. He said no decision on her reception would be made until Friday afternoon.

Last week Durning announced that, under instructions from Washington, all ships from Russia and satellite countries would receive thorough examination before they reached the upper bay. This will include examination of papers, crew members and passengers and all packages and baggage.

The Batory is accustomed to extraordinary scrutiny in New York. On all her recent voyages extra details of customs and immigration men have kept a close watch on the ship and her pier.

Legal Protection Assured for Men

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Reserves and national guardsmen called to active duty will be protected legally if they are unable to make their service pay cover their financial obligations.

An army representative gave this example of the type of protection provided by the World War 2 Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act:

Suppose a guardsman agreed to pay $100 a month on a home purchase before being called up. If he is unable to continue payments, he may seek to have them reduced to a level he can meet, thus forestalling foreclosure. He may obtain legal assistance from the army if necessary.

Should the matter be taken to court, the judge could be expected to order that payments be held to a "reasonable" amount during the man's federal service.

The same type of relief covers installment payments and life insurance premiums, the army spokesman said.

It is available equally to reservists, national guardsmen and draftees called into federal service.

British to Give Tokens From Lend-Lease Boats

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Mementos from 43 of the 50 American destroyers lend-leased to Britain in 1940 will be given to the American communities for which the ships were renamed, the British government announced yesterday.

The mementos, a symbolic gesture of British gratitude, will consist of the ships' bells, badges and logbooks.

Tokens from one of the other seven destroyers are to be presented to the Roosevelt Memorial Library at Hyde Park, N. Y. They will come from the vessel renamed H.M.S. Churchill in honor of Britain's wartime prime minister.

At the time they were transferred to Britain, 43 of the 50 craft were renamed after towns or cities common to Britain and the U. S. Six of the others were renamed for American-Canadian rivers and the seventh for Churchill. The ships are now being scrapped.

Since some of the town names chosen exist in more than one state, the British have decided to send the mementos to those with the largest population.

Grows Old Without Water Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—A pocket mouse which never drank water or other liquid has died at the age of six years. That is a fabulous age for such a mouse which usually lives only about a year in its natural desert home.

Dr. Seth B. Benson, who caught the mouse near San Diego, says it consumed only small amounts of food and water. Apparently it got the water it needed from the dry seed. He says many desert animals have body processors which use very small amounts of water.

Pork Drops Some, Eggs Advance in Many Retail Stores

(By The Associated Press)
Retail pork prices were trimmed a little more this week in meat places, and many stores again marked up eggs by one or two cents a dozen.

Other changes in meats, poultry and dairy products were too scattered to establish general trends. In fresh produce, several price declines reflected more abundant supplies from gardens closer to market centers. Cauliflower, tomatoes, green corn, carrots, onions and lima beans were lower. So were watermelons, western plums, grapes and pears. Slightly higher than last week-end in some markets were lettuce, cabbage, peppers and cantaloupes.

Two large food trade organizations said their surveys indicated that war scare buying of foods has died down considerably across the nation. In Chicago, Mrs. R. M. Kiefer, secretary-manager of the National Association of Retail Grocers, said replies to a telegraphic survey of key retail outlets were almost unanimous in reporting a return to normal buying and brought no reports of scarcities of any kind, even sugar.

Similar Findings
Paul S. Willis, president of Grocery Manufacturers of America, announced similar findings but noted that some stores may still be temporarily out of sugar because of abnormally heavy consumer buying for hoarding. He said the government's acquisition of Cuba's entire reserve stock of raw sugar last week, when added to existing supplies and the new crop of beet sugar starting to market, indicated a plentiful supply for everyone.

"The remaining problem is simply one of patience to give the refiners the opportunity of converting this into refined sugar and time to get it to the grocery stores," Willis said.

The Agriculture Department weekly food supply review reported that this country now has "the largest stock in its history"—8,450,000 tons available for consumption in 1950. Actual consumption last year was 7,500,000 tons.

Range Is Given

The reductions in pork cuts this week ranged from two to 10 cents a pound—and as much as 20 cents in one large store chain in Boston. Mark-downs last week had been even sharper, following weeks of climbing pork prices.

The Agriculture Department reported that, largely because of more pork production, total meat supplies are expected to be slightly larger this year than last—but the lamb crop is the smallest since records were started 26 years ago. The crop was estimated at 18,431,000 head, or about two per cent smaller than last year's.

The decline in lamb production started in 1942 when many ranchers reduced flocks because they couldn't get enough shepherders. The long uptrend in egg prices in seasonal—hot weather brings a decline in egg production. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics said that even if the Korean outbreak causes increased military demands for eggs and poultry, these demands can be partly met from existing stocks and through the partly offsetting reduction in civilian demand that follows transfer of men into the military ranks.

Exceeds Purchases
"Department of Agriculture purchases of dried egg so far this year exceed the largest annual military purchases of dried egg during World War 2," the report said.

Food distributors are preparing for National Vegetable Week, which begins Sunday. Harvey A. Baum, president of the Atlantic Commission Co., the produce-buying affiliate of A. & P. food stores, said retailers plan extensive promotion to spotlight the nutritional value of fresh produce. He credits cooperative research between farmers and distributors as the chief reason why consumers are eating less starchy foods and more leafy, green and yellow vegetables.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week advanced three cents from a week ago to $6.50—highest since late September of 1948 and 11.8 per cent above the year-ago level. The figure represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Flag Is Stolen

Garden City, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—A Confederate flag, which hung from a staff at the side entrance of the home of Edmund T. Duval (41 Prospect street), was stolen yesterday. Duval, who hails from the South, said the flag was a from a friend and was worth $50.

Attorney, 83, Dies

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Edward J. Krug, 83, one of the oldest practicing lawyers in the state of New York, died yesterday. He was admitted to the bar in Poughkeepsie in 1889 and practiced for 61 years until illness struck him down last Sunday.

An anagram which reads the same backward and forward is called a palindrome. A classic example is "Madam, I'm Adam."

Moles eat an amount of food each day equal to nearly one-third of their own weight.

Communists Are Fired

Tokyo, Aug. 3 (AP)—Japanese publishers have acted in agreement with General MacArthur's views in firing Communists and suspected Communists from their staffs, his top civil information officer said today. Lt. Col. D. R. Nugent issued a statement calling the discharges "timely and courageous." Publishers discharged 341 in the purge, the Japan Editors and Publishers Association reported. Another 106 employees were dismissed by Japan Broadcasting Corporation.

Strike Is Called

Auckland, New Zealand, Aug. 3 (AP)—The national executive of the Waterside Workers' Union has called a strike tonight that will close down every port in New Zealand. The strike stems from a protest against an employer's refusal to let two Auckland dockers take their morning tea together. It will be New Zealand's first general waterfront strike since 1913.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Korean War is putting the first tentative bite on airline service for civilians. You can scarcely feel it—yet. But, like the war, the Pacific airlift could grow overnight.

So far only a few schedules have been upset. Cargo rather than passenger service has been affected. A few smaller planes have replaced the larger carriers wanted for the Pacific airlift by the military. A charter job or two has been turned down for lack of planes.

But most flights have seats available. Passengers aren't being turned away, nor bumped—yet. The airlines have asked for the right to do that, when necessary. And a bill to set up tight air traffic controls, when and if, is before Congress.

The Pacific airlift is no pygmy. Some 65 four-engine planes are assigned to it by the nation's commercial air carriers, both scheduled and non-scheduled.

The reason it hasn't upset your own plans to travel by plane is that the commercial airline business has grown so since the war. At the time of Pearl Harbor, such an airlift would have been impossible. The commercial lines had only 21 four-engine planes capable of a cross-Pacific flight then. Now they have more than 400.

They had only a few more than 500 planes of all sizes in 1941, now the official figures total 1,347. And the present day planes hold more passengers, more cargo. They fly faster and further. They can get help to American soldiers in Korea in volume and at a speed far beyond anything possible in the last war.

Last time the military took about 40 per cent of the available commercial aircraft. That figure this time would be in excess of 160 planes.

If the armed forces need more civilian planes for military purposes, here is the order in which you will probably feel the pinch:

First, charter jobs will have to be turned down. These consist of using planes to carry workers or equipment to special jobs—such as toting Puerto Ricans to Michigan beef fields.

Next to go probably will be the cut-rate services: Planes carrying family-rate, vacation-rate passengers, and the increasingly popular aircoaches.

Last to be curtailed will be the full-rate regular services. These might be reshuffled to fit new traffic patterns of a nation at war.

The airlines aren't too worried about the prospect, yet. The planes they are turning over to the airlift will be rented by the government—although the airlines say the terms of the contract haven't been worked out and they don't know how much they'll be paid.

And if, in the meantime, there should be fewer planes on the regular routes, also there should be fewer empty seats per plane. As the number of paying customers increases, so do the profits from the flight.

The lack of planes to take on charter jobs will be felt financially, of course. And some in the American air carrier business note rather ruefully that so far only U. S. flag carriers are being asked to divert planes to the airlift. European lines, some flying planes bought with Marshall dollars, will be in position to pick up the lucrative charter business.

Are Cargo Carriers
Most of the planes in the airlift are cargo carriers, but they can tote passengers too, and do. The planes from all the airlines are being operated by three trans-Pacific carriers: Pan American, Northwest and United.

Monday, the Military Air Transport Service took over-all control, but left operations to the three lines.

The airlift has grown rapidly. For example, Pan American averaged two flights a day in July, for the military, but plans five a day this month. All three of the lines flying the Pacific report that traffic has picked up on their regular civilian flights.

The airlift has cut most, proportionately, into the business of some of the non-scheduled cargo lines. For example, Seaboard and Western, which was flying eight freight planes across the Atlantic, has turned six of them over to the Pacific airlift.

The protein value of eight medium-sized eggs is equal to a pound of meat.

Driver Education Plan At New Paltz College

A driver education workshop will be given at New Paltz State Teachers College, State University of New York, beginning Monday, August 14. The course will run for 10 days, six hours each day. It is designed for teachers who wish to qualify for teaching driver education in high school or in adult education programs.

Possession of a New York state driver's license and teaching certificate are required for admission. The course consists of classroom lectures and laboratory work with psycho-physical tests, as well as behind-the-wheel training. A dual-controlled 1950 Pontiac from the Wesley Van Vleet agency in New Paltz will be used in the course. Those who successfully complete the work will receive a New York State teaching certificate in driver education.

The course carries two semester hours of undergraduate credit. Loren D. Campbell of the State Teachers College faculty is Director of the workshop. Application for admission should be made to Campbell as soon as possible. Seventeen persons have enrolled in the course to date.

The old courthouse from which Billy the Kid made famous his escape in 1881 is now a New Mexico State Monument. It is in the little frontier town of Lincoln, N. M.

WALKILL

Walkill, Aug. 3—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Terwilliger, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Terwilliger and daughter, Linda, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hill of Union, N. J. are vacationing this week at Lake George.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Prescott spent a few days this past week visiting with friends in Boston, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Chase and son, Jeffrey visited his sister, Mrs. Edna Earle and family of Staten Island.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Masten have returned home from a vacation trip in the White Mountains in New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Chase and son, Jeffrey left on Monday for a trip to California. They expect to make their home there permanently.

Miss Pauline DuBois is spending a two-week vacation at Camp Wendy, Ulster County Girl Scout Camp.

C. E. Caswell is attending a session for the clerks of the board of education in the school system of New York state at Syracuse this week. He is the clerk of the Walkill Central School board of education.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Felen, Mrs. Harry W. Morehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morris and sons, Jeffrey and Charles and Miss Anita Terrell enjoyed an outing at Redders Beach on Sunday. Also, from Walkill were Mr. and Mrs. John Napolitano and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Neuwirth and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Erb and children and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mizerak and son, Ronald.

Samuel Mizerak has been appointed janitor of the Walkill Dutch Reformed Church after the resignation of George Brach.

The Rev. Richard Hine, Jr., preached his last sermon before entering upon his vacation during the month of August on Sunday, July 30. Mrs. George Farlin was at the console and Mrs. Viola Jansen sang, "Be Not Me, O God." Flowers were placed in the sanctuary by the Walkill Federal Savings and Loan Association.

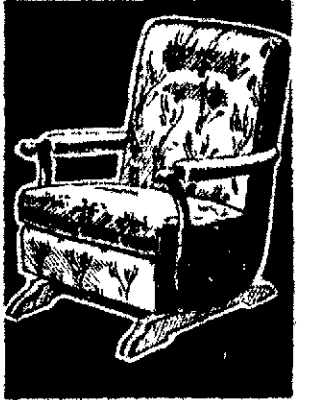

This month, the following ministers will occupy the pulpit: August 6, the Rev. Frederick Bosch, former Walkill pastor, now at the Church-on-the-Hill, Flushing; August 13, the Rev. G. Herbert Schneider, pastor of the Community Church of Hohenokus, N. J.; August 20, the Rev. Richard P. Mallory, former Walden pastor and now serving the church in Kew Gardens; August 27, G. Jacob Holter recently returned from Arabia where he taught in a boy's school.

A special meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of the Rose-Sheely Post 1024 of Walkill was held in the Legion rooms on Monday, July 31. Proceeds from the carnival for the local auxiliary were $140 and it was voted to give to the local recreational fund $10.

The auxiliary would like all merchandise club members to note that this is the last week of the Merchandise Club and wish to thank all who participated. The next regular meeting will be held on September 11, in the Legion Rooms.

New Hand and Arm Designed for Amputees

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A new battery-powered arm and nylon hand for amputees was announced yesterday by the International Business Machines Corp.

The announcement said this arm and hand can make about all the natural movements of an arm, and enough of the motions of the hand and fingers to allow two-handed work.

The machinery is housed in a hollow artificial forearm. Inside nylon fingers of an almost perfect-looking hand, are metal joints and flexing rods which closely imitate natural muscle movements.

The power comes from a tiny battery carried usually in a pants pocket.

The amputee works the fingers mostly with his toes. He works an insole with two toe keys which connect with the electrical arm. The keys are pneumatic bladders or balloons, set so that walking does not affect them.

Only two of the arms have been made, and they represent two types of amputee problems. One, the person with a fragment of biceps left; the other, with nothing but a bare shoulder stump.

It is proposed to make other models and have them tried by amputees, and then find out the best ways to make electrical arms and hands for mass production.

Chinese Planes Take Off for More Raids

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 3 (AP)—For the second successive day Chinese Nationalist war planes took off today for unannounced destinations.

Presumably they are raiding Chinese Communist concentrations on the mainland which threaten to invade Quemoy. Quemoy is a Nationalist island just off the Communist port of Amoy on the China side of Formosa Strait.

Nationalists resumed their air activity yesterday, shortly after General MacArthur ended conferences with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek on the defense of Formosa. The planes had been idle since the start of the Korean War at the request of President Truman.

There was much speculation in this Nationalist capital that General MacArthur will send American planes to Formosa to help guard against the possibility of a Communist invasion. The U. S. Seventh Fleet is patrolling Formosa Strait to prevent a Red crossing.

V. K. Wellington Koo, Nationalist China's ambassador to Washington who is here for consultation, said MacArthur's visit to Taipei was a possible step toward ending the neutralization of Formosa which President Truman requested June 27.

The ambassador said the general's consultation with Chiang was bound to have a stimulating effect on all Asian nations threatened by Communism.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Aug. 2—Helen Gilmore returned to Brooklyn Friday following a vacation sojourn of two weeks at the L. F. Ruckert place in the village center.

Alan Voght was numbered among the young Kingston businessmen calling in the hub of the reservoir country last Thursday.

Some observers opine the number of autos passing Winchell's Corners Sunday afternoon was greater than that at any similar period thus far in the summer season. Pine Hill buses, too, did a heavy business up and down the Esopus valley during the week-end.

Otsego county's population according to preliminary census reports is 50,991, a figure which many persons in and around Otsego assumed was an all time high. However, an old legislative manual which has been used by Assemblyman Benjamin Morrow of the Blue Jay Hollow road, revealed that there were 51,372 persons in the county 120 years ago. Thus, paradoxically, Otsego has both gained and lost in population over the years.

Comparison of Town of Olive population figures for 1870 and 1950 probably also would show a decrease as of this year. The Catskills and the country up against them were a hive of industry in the old days.

Leonard Guglielmo and family of New York are at the mountain summer home of Mrs. Guglielmo's father, Charles Rodriguez.

Birthdays: Tuesday, Aug. 1, include that of Mrs. Anthony Patsy, a resident of Shokan, and nearly three years previous to last spring when she removed to Florida. The former Olga Osmond was born in Brooklyn Heights and attended Manual Training School. She and her husband bought the one time Bella Windrum place and came here in July 1947. Mr. Patsy died a few months after the couple opened their new store here.

Eugene McCafferty is on vacation at his place along the mountain road. Mrs. McCafferty has been here for the past several weeks.

Robert Stoutenburgh of the Glenford Heights section of Hurley was a Shokan caller last Saturday.

Marvin Vandemark, whose death was announced in Saturday's Freeman, resided in the old village of Shokan as a boy, and in later life made his home for a time on the present E. C. Rosstock place in the Coons district. He was well known throughout Olive and adjacent mountain towns.

Camberra, Australia, Aug. 3 (AP)—Navy Minister Josiah Francis today "emphatically denied" reports that foreign submarines had been sighted off the Australian coast. The Sidney Sun published such a report, attributed to "official" sources, and said it was possible the submarines were Russian. A statement from Francis said New Guinea civilians early in May reported twice they sighted what they thought were submarines, "but after investigations the claim was not confirmed."

Christie Is Elected

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—Donald Christie, publisher of the Fort Plain Standard of Fort Plain, N. Y., yesterday was elected president of the American Press Association. Christie also is vice-president of the New York State Press Association. New York's Milk Industry

By JOHN BRIOR
Watertown Times Staff Writer

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—The Dairy business is peculiar in its pricing and payment system. The farmer who takes his milk to the shipping plant Aug. 1 will not know what it was worth until Sept. 14. And he will get paid for it Sept. 25.

On the other hand, the dealer or distributor, usually knows what he will make on the farmer's product the minute he takes it in. At the other end of the milky way, the consumer pays whatever price is dictated from month to month by the distributors.

Milk pricing is evolved through an intricate system, operating in the New York milkshed through an umpire—Dr. Charles J. Blanford, federal-state marketing order administrator.

Right now the U. S. department sets the price for so-called fluid milk used mostly for drinking purposes, beginning Aug. 1, a new pricing formula went into effect. This formula, based largely upon the economic situation as indicated by government commodity indices, was revised by a group of university professors and approved in a referendum by the farmers.

Whether the new formula will return more or less to the dairy-men will not be known for sure until early September after the market administrator receives August sales reports from handlers.

How high the price to farmers goes in any month is governed largely upon the percentage of milk sold in the highest classifications, fluid milk and cream. All other milk utilized goes into a single classification—Class 3 (manufactured products).

On the basis of sales, the administrator "blends" the price the price farmer is to receive and the dealers are notified what to pay their patrons for the produce delivered during the previous month.

But the farmer does not get this uniform price. Out of his total check must come (1) shipping charges, (2) buttermilk differential if the milk tests less than 3.5 percent and (3) trucking charges if his milk goes from farm to plant under arrangement with a truck operator.

If he is cooperative association member, the farmer has further reductions such as the service charges which run the cooperative.

Farmer Gets Less
In the end, the farmer received less than the uniform price and one of the major farm complaints has been that consumers are led to believe that he gets more for his milk than he does.

Some farmers, near the major markets, get more money than the country cousins farther away. They pay less freight at times during the year, like the late fall and winter seasons when grains are fed to cattle heavily, farmers get premiums for higher milk tests than the standard 3.5 percent butterfat. This is called the butterfat differential and under the pricing system, the higher the milk tests, the more it is worth.

Some cooperatives would be unable to meet the uniform price payments to their patrons were it not for the federal order. In the order setup is a "pool" into which superior marketing operations in the industry are required to pay to equalize dairy farmer payments throughout the state.

Areas like northern New York the metropolitan market for fluid use. But their monthly price is equalized through the pool.

Guild Makes More Wage Demands in Telegram Fight

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The C.I.O. New York Newspaper Guild has withdrawn its latest proposals to the strike-bound World-Telegram and Sun and has increased its wage demands.

Officials of the New York Guild telegraphed yesterday to Ezra Bryan, attorney for the newspaper, that the Guild's proposal last week on job security and union security could not longer "form the basis of a settlement."

The management had rejected the proposals, which the union had called a "major concession."

The Guild telegram said "The World-Telegram and Sun unit (of the Guild) has made it clear that the negotiators made concessions greater than the unit desired."

The telegram said on the wage issue: "The sharply rising cost of living requires that the Guild position must no longer be what it was when the strike began" on June 13.

"It must also be obvious to you," the telegram said, "that if the strike and the rise in living costs continue, the Guild's position must be subject to further revision."

No details of the Guild's position on the wage issue were stated in the communication.

A management spokesman said the newspaper had no comment on the Guild's telegram.

The management announced on Tuesday that it had closed the newspaper plant for the duration of the strike.

Advice for Railroaders

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the examiner's room, second floor, New York Central Railroad Station, on Wednesday, August 3, between the hours of 1 p. m. and 3 p. m. for the purpose of rendering assistance and advice to railroad workers in connection with matters concerning applications for retirement, applications for death benefits, and answering any inquiries in connection with the Railroad Retirement Act.

Two Released in Case Of Resisting Arrest

Philadelphia, Aug. 3 (AP)—Two New York men arrested last week on charges of resisting arrest have been released.

After a habeas corpus hearing yesterday, Judge Louis E. Levinthal ordered discharged: Ralph Ditchik, 29, Long Beach, N. Y., and Raymond Stough, 31, E. 51st St., New York City.

Two patrolmen testified the men resisted arrest after refusing to open brief cases which police said contained "peace campaign pamphlets and other literature."

Judge Levinthal ruled there was no evidence the men resisted arrest in refusing to disclose the contents of the brief cases.

There was no testimony at yesterday's hearing on what the brief cases contained and the jurist ordered the men's personal property returned.

Cooperation Is Directed

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The New York State Public Service Commission has been directed to cooperate with New Jersey and other states on exchange of utility services in event of enemy attack.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chairman of the New York State Civil Defense Commission, urged the step yesterday in a letter to Benjamin F. Feinberg, P.S.C. chairman. Clay called for inter-state cooperation among public utilities to insure "an uninterrupted flow of power, light, water, gas, communication and transportation" in case of an emergency.

Has Only Faint Hope

St. Louis, Aug. 3 (AP)—Emery W. Allison, who received President Truman's backing, held only a faint hope today that he still might edge out Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., for the Missouri Democratic senatorial nomination.

Hennings' nomination was virtually certain. With only 36 precincts not tabulated, Hennings, a former U. S. representative, led by 4,372 votes in the unofficial count of Tuesday's primary election.

Many Entries for Mrs. America Test

Entries are pouring in from all parts of the Mid-Hudson Valley area for the 12th annual Mrs. America eliminations contest being conducted by the 9-W Drive-In Theatre. A nationwide competition to single out and honor the most beautiful married woman in the United States, who is also the country's most typical homemaker, the Mrs. America contest offers thousands of dollars in prizes to the national winner.

To compete in this major coast-to-coast event, married women in this area must participate in the local eliminations now being conducted by the 9-W Drive-In Theatre. Candidates must secure an entry blank from the theatre. The winner of the local screening will receive an all-expense trip to Ashbury Park, N. J., where the national finals will be held September 10.

In addition to the Ashbury trip, the local winner will receive awards in the hundreds of dollars contributed by the merchants.

The contests will be broadcast and there is no entry fee and no charge of any kind connected with the contest.

COMBINE BLUEBERRIES, AVOCADO

BLUEBERRIES AND AVOCADO are a combination that will bring joy to the hearts of hot-weather diners.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Cultivated blueberries are a joy in themselves. In muffins and griddle cakes they rate big, too. But here's a combination to get even more excited about.

Blueberry Avocado Ring Mold (Makes 8 to 10 servings)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice (divided), 1 cup mashed avocado (1 large), 1/2 cup sour cream, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 pint box cultivated blueberries.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in the hot water. Add sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg whites.

Mash avocado with remaining tablespoon lemon juice, sour cream, mayonnaise and seasonings. Combine with gelatin mixture. Turn into a 4-cup ring mold. Chill. When firm, unmold on salad greens. Place the washed and drained cultivated blueberries in center. Decorate with mayonnaise.

Party Cheese Pie

Graham cracker crust: 16 graham crackers, finely rolled (1 1/3 cups crumbs), 1/4 cup softened butter or fortified margarine, 1/4 cup sugar.

Blend together graham cracker crumbs, softened butter or margarine and sugar. Pour crumb mixture into 9-inch pie plate; press firmly into an even layer against bottom and sides of plate. Cheese filling: Two eggs, 1 pound cream cheese, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup sugar. Beat eggs in electric mixer at low speed, adding cheese, vanilla and sugar. Pour into graham cracker crust. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cinnamon; cool.

Toppings: One-half pint sour cream, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Using an electric mixer, beat sour cream, sugar and vanilla at low speed. Spread on top of pie. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 5 minutes. Cool; chill thoroughly in refrigerator before serving. Garnish with cranberry sauce or jelly cutouts, if desired.

TOMORROW'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Frozen grapefruit juice, ready-to-eat cereal, crisp bacon, enriched toast, coffee, milk.
PARTY LUNCHEON: Clear chicken soup in cups, crackers, blueberry avocado mold, mayonnaise, hot biscuits, butter or fortified margarine, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled salmon steaks, parsley lemon butter, boiled potatoes, spinach with chopped egg yolk, enriched bread, sliced cucumbers in vinegar, fresh peach Bavarian, coffee, milk.

Reds Train Indo-Chinese

Saigon, Indochina, Aug. 3 (AP)—Red China is training at least 10,000 Indo-China guerrillas for Ho Chi Minh's Communist-led anti-French forces, official French sources report. This is Communist China's first large-scale aid to the Moscow-recognized Viet Minh regime, the sources said. They reported that the Chinese Communists have set up training camps at Wenshan, Tchenngan and Tungshing—all near the North Indo-Chinese frontier. The camps are used not only to drill and equip raw recruits, but to give advanced commando training to Ho's men. Ho's troops have been waging guerrilla warfare against French forces and troops of the French-backed Bao Dai government for five years. Idaho produced $22,119,000 worth of lead, $18,450 of zinc, and $8,995,708 of silver during 1947.

Charged With Theft

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—A 28-year-old ex-paratrooper was charged today with stealing $150,000 from the clients of his father's securities house in order to speculate in Italian lira. The man held is Pietro Gudenzi, 22 Beverly Road, Great Neck, N. Y. He was charged with grand larceny and mail was sent at $50,000. John Rutenberg, assistant state attorney general, said a routine check of the Gudenzi firm's accounts uncovered thefts from about 50 clients between July, 1949, and last month. Gudenzi, the prosecutor said, has been running the business since his father, Annetto Gudenzi, went to Italy last year.

Symphony Fools Public

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—For weeks residents of Glen Summer Road complained of "loud and strange noises," which they attributed to power lines. The light department sent out a trouble crew on a night when, one sleepless citizen said, "the noise vibrated the entire house." The crew's findings: a bunch of bullfrogs in a nearby swamp were whooping it up. "This department has no remedy," a spokesman sadly announced.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The stock market got stuck in a price rut today.

Business faded away and prices changed less than 50 cents a share for the most part. Gains and losses were thoroughly scrambled. Most traders felt there were too many imponderables floating around which might have an effect on prices—war legislation in Washington, the Korean fighting, and the Security Council debate.

This same mood of caution has been apparent all week although some issues or groups have moved independently of the market as a whole. Locomotive stocks did a little better than average today, with gains posted for Lima-Hamilton, American Locomotive and Baldwin. These companies are important suppliers of heavy armament.

Also ahead off and on were Bethlehem Steel, Eastern Stainless Steel, Packard, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, American Distillers, American Bosch, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Cyanamid, Westinghouse Electric, Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, Texas Co., and Loew's.

Holding back were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Lockhead, Admiral Corp., Emerson Radio, Radio Corp., Kennecott Copper, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical (new and old stocks), duPont, American Oil, Southern Railway, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Johns-Manville.

AIR FORCE PLANES ARRIVE IN JAPAN

Air Force Mustang P-51 planes are unloaded from an Essex type carrier at a Japanese naval base after a record trip from the U. S. Badly needed at the Korean front, the planes reached the base from San Francisco in 8 days, 7 hours, described as fastest non-stop surface crossing of the Pacific in history. (AP Wirephoto)

24th Division Attack Is Important to General Staff

By DON WHITEHEAD

With U. S. Forces in Korea, Aug. 3 (AP)—Troops of the American 24th Division held their line firmly east of Chinnju today after sending a tanked battalion reconnaissance force deep into enemy territory.

The tanks probed for miles behind enemy lines Wednesday in the deepest penetration American forces have made in this war.

(Maj. Gen. John E. Church, commanding the 24th, told Associated Press Correspondent O. H. P. King, "Our timing was fortunate. Our attack stopped theirs from getting under way.")

The task force smashed through the enemy and caught near Communist elements by surprise. The Americans engaged the Reds in a roaring battle, and rolled almost into Chinnju.

The task force ran a gauntlet of machine gun fire all the way. But it captured enemy documents, maps and Russian made equipment. Intelligence officers said these were important finds.

Cars Are Abandoned

Four Sherman tanks and four armored cars were abandoned. The Americans withdrew to road positions four miles south-west of Chinnju, and about 40 air miles from Pusan after the Reds closed in behind them and cut off tanks. The North Koreans stopped the first tank and the last one. The tank crews and most of the armored car crews escaped.

The Americans then fanned out to the north and south and fought their way back to the main U. S. defensive position near Wungungh. They brought all their wounded and dead back with them.

They also brought back two tanks which had been hit by 75 mm. guns. Crews of both these tanks were either killed or wounded.

Tanks Are Drawn Back

Some G.I.s volunteered to drive the tanks back, although they had never operated them before. One was a farm boy who said he had driven tractors. The other had no experience in bulldozers. They climbed into the Shermans, turned them around, and brought them back.

The battalion got back around 12:30 a. m. (10:30 a. m. Wednesday, Eastern Standard time). The men fell asleep in foxholes.

At dawn they were awakened by rifle fire. A strong force of Reds, apparently trying to get at American artillery positions, was coming down the road.

Machine guns were unlimbered in a rice paddy on both sides of the road. They raked the Reds as they came. About 175 of the attackers were killed or wounded. The others withdrew.

The Communists sprinkled leaflets in the area telling Koreans to stay in their homes and declaring the Reds were coming soon in force to liberate them from the Americans.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Conclusive opinions on numerous economic questions are impossible until we know a great deal more than we know now about (1) what Russia plans to do and (2) what Washington plans to do.

In the confused meantime, investors, businessmen, and the excited public will jump about and change their minds as often as a girl.

Perhaps if we look at a few of the conflicting possibilities we shall be less confused—although admittedly not much nearer decisions.

This is written as our troops and those of South Korea are being pushed steadily back toward the part of Pusan. Reinforcements, however, are being landed. So—this projects two "unknowns"—we shall either be forced off the peninsula, or maintain the beachhead. In turn, this projects two formidable tasks: to build a land force to retake beachheads, or to build-up our forces and those of the allies large enough to counter a counter drive back toward the 38th parallel.

As if these imponderables— and unanswerables—were not staggering enough, we have no idea of what Russia's next move may be. She might "do nothing," and simply let the situation simmer.

She might start a peace offensive, or she might start a world off balance. She might start conflicts elsewhere.

Inasmuch as the United States was caught totally unprepared for the Korean campaign

Health for All

Swim Without Accidents

Swimming is more than a popular summer sport. It is refreshing and healthful exercise. Furthermore, it has proved helpful in improving or restoring certain muscular functionings which become impaired by illness or accident.

It is tragic, then, that nearly 7,000 American lives are lost annually through accidental drownings—most of them among people who went to the shore or the lake for a summer day of fun and relaxation.

And the tragedy is that most of these drownings could have been avoided if the swimmers or bathers had used a little care and common sense.

All during the winter months, many of us look forward to the beach "plan vacations around good swimming weather," and yet never take the time and trouble to learn how to swim. For those who like the water and go frequently to lakes, pools, or the ocean, knowing how to swim would make the water more enjoyable as well as safer.

One perennial hazard of the beach is the practical joker who pushes unsuspecting people into deep water, or the one who tosses the timid in "the force him to swim." Frequently the floundering victim is rescued, but too often such tactics end in tragedy or the sufferer gains a terror of the deep water that is difficult to lose.

No swimmer—not even the expert and experienced—should go swimming alone. Even expert swimmers are subject to exhaustion, cramps, or any unexpected trouble and at least one other swimmer should be along to help in case anything should go wrong.

The swimmer should know and respect his own skill and endurance and avoid taking foolish chances. Many swimming fatalities have resulted from taking bets or "dances" on swimming "the length of the lake," or "going beyond the breakers."

Swimming in dirty water, or unfamiliar water that might be polluted, is not worth the chance the swimmer takes. With his nose and mouth in the impure water as he swims, the swimmer is an easy prey for germs which might cause serious disease.

Swimming enthusiasts insist that relaxation and pleasure of swimming are unsurpassed by any other sport. The hazards of swimming can be canceled out for most part by a little common sense and moderation.

HELICOPTER LIFT FOR FLAGPOLE SITTER

Ed Korral (left), San Francisco used car dealer, gives Erma Leach a helping hand into seat of a helicopter which carried her to top of a 60-foot flagpole on Korral's car lot. Erma hopes to better a previous "sitting" mark of 118 days established by a man on the same pole. Erma will have all the comforts of home atop the pole, including a bed, wardrobe closet and other comforts. (AP Wire-photo)

$359 Is Average U. S. Tax in 1949

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Federal, state and local tax collections in 1949 averaged $359 from every man, woman and child in the country, the Census Bureau reported.

The federal government's share was 71 per cent or $253 of the total. The states got $56 per person, local government $50.

The bureau said federal and state local taxes aggregated $53,586,000,000 in 1949—but were two per cent below the 1948 record of $54,495,000,000.

The federal government's collection declined six per cent, from $40,104,000,000 to $37,810,000,000, but state taxes rose seven per cent to $8,349,000,000 total and local levies increased 13 per cent to $47,427,000,000.

Individual income taxes provided 29 per cent or $16,103,000,000 last year, proving the biggest source of government income. They amounted to an average of $108 per person.

Corporation income taxes yielded $11,844,000,000.

New Mediation Head

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Merlyn Spitzle of Brooklyn took over today as chairman of the State Mediation Board. Spitzle, labor editor of Business Week magazine, was appointed yesterday by Governor Dewey. He has been a member of the seven-member mediation board since June, 1945. As chairman, Spitzle succeeds Arthur S. Meyer of New York city, who retired June 1.

Dewey previously named William B. Horlands of New York city to succeed Meyer on the board. Members of the mediation board receive $25 per day for their services in labor disputes.

WORKER GETS THE WORKS—The Detroit City Council recently passed an ordinance making it illegal to sell subversive publications on public property, resulting in scenes like this. Isadore Berenson, left, who sold the Daily Worker on a street-corner stand, is put out of business when Police Lieut. Leo Pell, right, serves an order closing down the stand.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Aug. 3.—The picnic sponsored by the Olive Democratic social club at the old ball grounds below the Ashokan Dam last Saturday passed off very pleasantly for the good-sized crowd in attendance. Several candidates for county offices addressed the gathering. The clams, frankfurters and other eatables, as prepared by Mrs. James Bush and Virgil Gordon, were not least among the enjoyable features of the day.

Mrs. Franklin Hyatt and son David of Guttenberg, N. J. are spending some time at the home of Mrs. Hyatt's sister, Mrs. Fred Adair. Mrs. Hyatt, the former Catherine Every, resided in Shokan as a girl.

Arrangements are about completed for the big bazaar and carnival of the Olive fire department on Friday and Saturday of this week at the Olive Bridge firehouse. The local volunteers and members of the auxiliary are hoping for an even larger turnout than at last year's event, in order to provide funds for the new fire station and truck at West Shokan.

The upper Esopus Creek was dotted with trout fishermen last Sunday, all the way from the head of the reservoir to Big Indian. The old Esopus rapids, replenished by Glendon water pouring out of the Shandaken tunnel, made up boots a "must" upon this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Roe and two children are guests at the home of Mrs. Roe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osterhoudt of Brown's Meridale Farms, Delaware county. The Osterhoudts have had employment at some time or another has been sold by Rhandina Fly Bee to Nathan Werblud of New York who plans to use the property, consisting of 2,000 acres and 20 buildings for dairy purposes. The Minervini Rest at Boiceville which was gutted by fire several weeks ago has been rebuilt with cement blocks.

Harvey Lawrence Every, 18, who was seriously injured July 23 in an auto accident at Krumville is still a patient at the Albany Hospital where his condition remains about the same. The young man, a brother of Don Every of the Haver Garage staff here, reportedly had a piece of his skull imbedded in the brain. He is a son of Francis Every, a former assessor of Olive.

Cat Is Rescued

The Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals reported that its special agent, Ray Winne, rescued a cat that had been caught in a rock crevice on the abutment near the High road about 7:45 p. m. Wednesday. The SPCA said the cat was freed after an hour and a half by Winne, who had to ascend the precarious abutment in order to reach the stranded animal.

Unofficial Welcome

Montreal, Aug. 3.—U. S. tourists to Canada are getting a special but unofficial "peace" welcome—by the Communists. Agents from across the border are finding blue and white stickers on their windshields reading "Welcome to Canada, and Take This Back to Truman—Hands Off Korea." Police have been ordered to arrest anyone seen putting on the stickers.

'Pretzel' on Wheels

Chicago (AP)—Four times a day Glenn Sunbury squeezes his six foot two inch frame into an automobile that is only 26 inches high and 48 inches long. He does his "human pretzel" stuff at the Chicago Fair. The tiny vehicle has a sign painted on it. It reads "Squat Car."

Naval Reservist Finds Bounty of Co-Workers Tops

Fayetteville, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—Naval Reservist Peter Kulba is ready for active duty thanks to a surprise going-away present from 27 co-workers.

Kulba, his wife and their three-year-old daughter were eating supper in their partially finished home last night when 27 friends from the Carrier Corporation showed up with a small bulldozer and tools.

They spent four hours finishing the house, constructing a driveway, a sidewalk and a retaining wall, and landscaping the grounds. "It was marvelous, wonderful—something you dream about," the 30-year-old Kulba said. A second-class radioman, Kulba has been ordered to report at Albany Aug. 12 for active duty. Truffles grow only at the base of certain kinds of oak trees.

'Gold Rush,' Outdoor Life, Mardi Gras Enjoyed by 92 Girls at Camp Wendy

The "second period" of Camp Wendy, on the shores of Lake Louise near Wallkill, ended July 29 after 92 girls had enjoyed the outdoor life at the camp and 33 had won recognition for camp craft, outdoor cooking and swimming.

A "gold rush" and a mardi gras were among the activities and 43 girls received Red Cross certificates for beginning, intermediate and advanced swimming. Of these, 12 did not know how to swim when they came to camp and were intermediates when they left. Seven advanced from intermediate to "swimmer," and of 20 who were "swimmers" when they arrived, two became "advanced swimmers."

The Junior Life Saving Course, which requires much hard work and study, was passed by Terry O'Reilly, Lillian Garrity, Betty Ann Hyatt, Jackie Haulenbeck, Patricia McCaffrey and Ruth Streifer of Kingston; Martha Fleckenstein of Ellenville, and Ruth Nachman of Kerhonkson.

Outdoor Living
One of the highlights of the camp period was a visit by Miss Alice Porter, national Girl Scout camping adviser for region two, and Miss Jane Louisburg, Girl Scout regional adviser. Miss Porter made a thorough inspection of the camp and reported that she was much pleased with the all-around program of outdoor living which was underway. She congratulated the camp committee and the friends of the camp for the repair work and building done by volunteers.

The "camp council" was made up of various campers, including Barbara Cameron and Joan Cooper from the Brownie Unit; Joyce Wood and Barbara Yeager of Indian; Carol Downs and Sheila Radd of Greenwood; Lillian Garrity and Dana Feldshuh of Plover; and Phelene and Marcia Levine of Jungle.

The first project planned by the council was the "gold rush." Campers divided into teams and set out to find the stones and rocks which they had previously painted yellow, and which the counselors had hidden. At a signal all teams gathered by the lake to count their loot. Prizes were given to the winning team, and after songs, there was a treat not included in the regular routine of Camp Wendy—soda pop.

JOAN VAN KLEECK

Two summer graduates, from this area, are Joan E. Van Kleeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Kleeck of New Paltz, and Jacqueline A. Kirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kirk, 20 Otis street, Kingston. Miss Van Kleeck is a member of the 93rd graduating class at Albany Business College. She was graduated from Kingston High School in 1948, and attended Plattsburgh State Teachers College for one year. Miss Kirk has completed the secretarial course at the Mildred Eiley Secretarial School in Albany. At the school she was an active member of the Student Christian Association, the Swim Club and the Glee Club, and was secretary of the class. She was graduated from Kingston High School in 1949.

Reviewer Describes Quartet Concert As 'Musical Treat'

The fourth concert of the Woodstock String Quartet opened auspiciously with the famous quartet in C major by Mozart last night at the parish hall of St. James Church.

From the restrained and serious opening adagio, passing to the lively allegro of the first movement, at once the genius of Mozart shone from the union of the four instruments in this noble and artful music. The moving andante and the masterful menuetto following were played in admirable style and with great tonal beauty. The last movement was taken at a very fast tempo, according to the prevailing mood.

A change in the printed program brought to the platform the noted pianist, Miss Sass, who played one of the finest of this form of Schubert's works, and the ever popular Rondo Capriccioso by Mendelssohn. The artist played with great technical skill and musical feeling, and was applauded, adding graciously to her offerings the C minor Etude by Chopin.

After the intermission, Engelbert Rengeling, cellist and manager of the quartet, spoke briefly of his plans for another season and invited his listeners to offer suggestions for future programs. He also stressed the fact that while the audiences of this season have been gratifyingly large, a greater attendance yet is to be desired to make the venture financially secure, and asked subscribers to interest other musicians for the future.

The program closed with the playing of Schumann's trio for violin, cello and piano. Played by Miss Sass and Messrs. Ernest Drucker and Rengeling in very brilliant fashion, the lovely, romantic work emerged in all its wealth of melody and mood. Especially the introspective lento movement was played with great insight and tonal beauty. This concert again was a musical treat of the first order.—I.K.D.

Y.W. Drama Group To Help Celebrate City's 300th Year

The Drama Group of the Y.W.C.A. has offered its services unanimously to the Chamber of Commerce to help prepare for the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the city of Kingston, it was announced today.

The city will mark the anniversary in 1952. At a meeting of the group, held Tuesday at the summer home of Mrs. Raymond Gross, "Cabin John," in West Shokan, Mrs. Ralph D. Harper was elected president to serve with the following officers: Mrs. Richard C. Morse, vice president; Mrs. Robert Pinley, secretary; Mrs. Ella Ochs, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. Dean Hays, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Forwilliger, chairman of the membership committee. Luncheon was served and after the business meeting, the members adjourned to the terrace where they played cards. The next meeting will be held October 3 at the Y.W.C.A.

John Frederick Reid Marries Albany Girl, New Paltz Graduate

Miss Mary Carolyn Ehrcke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick Ehrcke, 20 Buell street, Albany, was married to John Frederick Reid, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Reid, New Paltz, Saturday, July 15, in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Albany.

The Rev. John Thorpe of St. Peter's Episcopal Church performed the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with a portrait neckline and a full skirt ending in a train. Her matching satin cap held a long illusion veil, and she carried white roses.

Mrs. Frank Donahue of New Paltz, sister of the groom, was matron of honor and Miss Joan Taylor of Spring Valley was maid of honor. The bride's sisters, Joan and Judith Ehrcke were bridesmaids, and Barbara Ehrcke was flower girl. All wore white organdy frocks with green sashes and wreaths of yellow roses and ivy in their hair, to match their bouquets.

Robert Reid, Jr., of New Paltz, brother of the groom, was best man and usher, wearing the bride's brother, George Ehrcke, Lewis Fleming, Frank Donahue and Robert Elting. The couple left for a honeymoon in Canada.

After Sept. 1, they will live in Levittown, L. I. The bride is a graduate of Albany High School and New Paltz State Teachers College, and is a teacher in the Massachusetts School. Mr. Reid attended New Paltz High School, Irving Preparatory School and Ferris Institute. He is working for the Navy Transportation Service on the U.S.S. General Alexander M. Patch.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TABLE MANNERS

Some incredibly bad table manners are described by a foreign-born reader: "I have discovered that even people who pride themselves on social knowledge, dig into a serving dish of butter with their own knife. But almost the last straw turned up in my recent experience, and I put it up to you for answering: We women had prepared the meal for a club dinner and I was asked to look over the tables at the last minute to see that everything was in order on the table. I did and reported it was a good thing I had looked, that the four butter dishes had not one serving knife. The air was heavy with silence and one woman came out with 'Oh we don't use butter knives in this country!'

Your critic was quite wrong. We do use butter knives because you should never let a knife used for other foods touch the butter.

Saying Thank You to a Boy
Dear Mrs. Post: When a boy brings me home from an evening's entertainment, am I supposed to say "thank you?" This always seems to me like bending over backwards and I can't bring myself to it. Mother says it's polite manners.

Answer: There are practically no occasions in life when saying thank you is incorrect, and not to say it would be extremely rude. You don't have to say it gushingly, but you should certainly say, "Thank you, John, for a pleasant evening."

Charge Card

Dear Mrs. Post: How should a woman sign her charge card in a department store?
Answer: This is one of the few occasions when she signs her name "Mrs. John Smith" instead of Mary Smith. In other words, she signs the name in which she has her charge account.

Between Ages

Dear Mrs. Post: How does one address an envelope to boys from eleven to sixteen?
Answer: Write his name without any title. "Mr." is too grown up for boys of this age and "Master" too juvenile.

What expenses are the bride's family expected to pay? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. One of her many leaflets E-4 "Wedding Expenses," gives the details. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 90, Station G, New York 48, N. Y.

Bowlodrome Defeats Chez Emile, 6-2, On Watzka's Three-Hitter

Fast Ball Ace Checks Leaders, Hits 3-Run Triple

Four Teams Deadlocked in the 'Lost' Column

There was free bowling on the house at the Bowlodrome last night, after Johnny Ferraro's tossers had knocked off the front running Chez Emile, 6 to 2, in yesterday's City League feature.

More specifically, it was the strong right arm of Big Jack Watzka that accomplished the flattening of the high flying Chezies.

As a result the City League race is tighter than a Scotchman's purse with a faulty zipper. Chezies retain a half game margin over Jones Dairy and Old Caps, but these three teams and the yard Gulf are deadlocked in the "lost" column with three setbacks apiece.

Classic Pitching
Watzka turned in one of the classic performances of the season as he restricted Chezies to four hits, fanned five and walked only three. He removed any doubt about the final outcome by pounding a three-run double in the sixth inning.

Chezies picked up a 1-0 lead in the first inning, Bud Scheffel walking and Ray Lindhurst tripping to right center after Watzka had fanned the Glaser boys.

The Bowlodrome moved ahead 2-1 in the second and never relinquished the lead. Dick Dulin smashed a single through the middle, Mauro singled and Buster Ferraro sacrificed both runners a peg. Bob Watzka's fly to center was deep enough to deliver Dulin and Mauro inflated on an infield out.

Bowlodrome Rally
Jackie Ferraro's double, a wild pitch by Artie Barnes, the Chez starter, and Fondino's infield out boosted the Bowlodrome edge to 3-1 in the fifth.

Both clubs scored in the sixth. When Mauro greeted Barnes with his second hit, Rod Sagendorf came on in relief for Chezies. Buster Ferraro greeted him with a single and Bob Watzka was safe when nobody covered first on an attempted sacrifice, loading the bases. Sagendorf eased the tension by fanning Klosterman but Jack Watzka unloaded a base clearing triple to left center for a 6-1 bulge.

Chez Emile picked up an unearned tally in the last of the sixth on Bud Scheffel's single, only the third hit off Watzka, a passed ball and Mauro's wild throw on Shattan's infield single.

SIDELINERS: Ray Lindhurst continued his fine hitting with a 3-1 in the fifth.

triple and single. Jackie Ferraro and Ronnie Mauro, each had two blazes for the Bowlodrome. Watzka looked better than at any other time this season. There was a slight rhabarb when two runners wound up on second base during the Bowlodrome second but they finally ended up at the proper bases (second and third). The umpires won, as usual. Dick Dulin made a spectacular catch on Ken Lowe in the fourth, leaping high into the air at the fence for his drive in the fourth inning. The biggest cheers of the night greeted Dulin for his catch on Lowe and Joe Shattan when his foul sailed through a window in the Jacobson building.

Ankle Injury Puts Imperial on Farm

New York, Aug. 3 (AP)—The U. S. Trotting Association reported today that Imperial Hanover, a $72,000 yearling purchased at the 1949 Harrisburg, Pa., sales, had been fired for an ankle injury. This was an all-time high price for a standardbred horse at auction.

The colt, owned by J. J. McIntyre of Hollins, Va., has been turned out on the farm. Imperial Hanover has never started a race, and may not until his three-year-old campaign next season.

Mesquite roots will search out water 60 feet away, so Mexicans study their direction before digging a well.

Major League Roundup

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Maybe Red Rolfe had a hunch about Hal White. Maybe he was just plain desperate with Art Houtteman on the shelf. But hunch, desperation, luck or shot-in-the-dark, the Detroit manager's move was a touch of genius.

White, an obscure refugee from the bullpen, gave the Tigers' pennant hopes a shot in the arm yesterday with a brilliant two-hit shutout of the New York Yankees. The Tigers are two games out front in the American League.

The White of August 2, 1950, finally fulfilled the promise of the "Kid from Utica" who blazed a 12-12 record for the Tigers in his rookie year of 1942. But there have been many blank spots in between. Particularly World War 2.

The war took something out of Hal. When he came back, he just didn't have the four years'—four bops. Finally in May of 1949, Rolfe sent White to Toledo—a give-up gesture.

White fought his way back to the majors with a 10-8 record at Toledo. But not as a starter. Last spring, Rolfe had new hopes for White—in the bullpen. However, he got a chance as a starter in late June and early July. After three starts he went back on relief.

Yesterday the 31-year-old right-hander faced only 31 men. Singles by Gene Woodling in the third and Johnny Mize in the fourth marred his no-hit bid. White did a job at the plate, too, driving in what proved to be the winning run with a second-inning single off Alie Reynolds.

Despite White's fine effort, the Yankees, clinging to second place by three percentage points, must be faced again this afternoon. And Cleveland, also two games back, becomes a more serious threat each day.

Larry Doby hit three successive homers for the Indians last night as Bob Lemon won his 17th in an easy way—an 11-0 score over Washington. Lemon, top winner in the majors, hasn't lost since June 20 and now has nine straight victories.

The Boston Red Sox made it 15 out of 16 over the St. Louis Browns, rallying with three in the ninth for a 9-8 edge. Walt Dropa's single, following a two-run double by Vern Stephens, did the job for the Sox.

Elmer Valo hit for the cycle with a single, double, triple and homer for Philadelphia in a 10-3 win over Chicago.

Emora (Bubba) Church boosted the Phillies' National League lead to 3½ games with a 2-0 decision over Cincinnati's Willard Ramsdell. Church allowed only three hits and drove in the first run with a single in the fourth.

Brooklyn moved into second place on some timely hitting by Jimmy Russell against his old Pittsburgh mates. Russell, batting right-handed against Lefty Bill Werle, hit a two-run homer to tie the score in the ninth. Batting left-handed against right-handed Murry Dickson in the 10th, Russell won the game with a single.

Boston's Johnny Sain clicked off his 15th win to hoist the Braves into third place over St. Louis with a 4-3 decision over the Cards. Walker Cooper's pinch hit, Elmer Valo, did the trick.

Philadelphia's 10-3 win over Chicago was the Sox's 15th straight victory.

St. Louis' 9-8 win over the Browns was the Sox's 15th straight victory.

SOLD TO SENATORS

Pitcher Gene Bearden (above) of Cleveland Indians was sold to the Washington Senators for the $10,000 waiver price. The lanky southpaw, hero of the Tribe's 1948 pennant drive, has a record of one win against three defeats this year.

Polio Is on Increase

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP)—Acute poliomyelitis increased in the nation last week with 354 cases reported compared with 327 for the preceding week, the Public Health Service said today. The figures do not include Colorado, which had seven new cases the previous week. For the calendar year, and for the current "disease" year, however, the nationwide total is below that of 1949 to date.
